

BUSINESS MAY BE ABOUT TO TURN UPWARD

Revival of Some Lines Due to Seasonal Activity, But Others Show Improvement of Greater Permanence

Branches of Industry Which Few Months Ago Were Content to Drift Along, Now Planning Construction

Washington, June 1. — Indications of a break in the business recession that began with the new year were shown today in the Federal Reserve board's review for May. While the activity in some lines can be traced to seasonal increases officials said the tone was healthier and expressed the belief that the resulting revival would have more than temporary life.

There were indications also that constructive programs were under consideration in some business circles, which a few months ago were content to meet only the demands upon them and make no future plans.

Greater credit demands were evident in the last 30 days but these were met entirely by local financial institutions and the lower earning assets of the Federal Reserve banks were not increased. While the renewed demands for funds showed, in the opinion of treasury officials, a spirit in business, they also indicated that commercial banks had plenty of money available for loans with the result that rates were easier.

Agricultural Operations Show Gains

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, the survey showed agricultural operations were further advanced than at the same date last year and compared favorably with an average for 10 years. There was an increase in crop and live stock prices contrary to the downward movement of general commodity prices and the purchasing power of farm products reached the highest point since March, 1922.

Grain, particularly winter wheat and rye, was in good condition. Only about eight per cent of the winter wheat acreage was abandoned, the smallest with the exception of 1915 since 1912, the report said. The estimated acreage was about 57,000,000 on the basis of department of agriculture calculations May 1. The survey said the yield of winter wheat should be about 555,000,000 bushels, 19,000,000 bushels below last year.

Due to the seasonal factors, the volume of grain marketed in May was smaller than in March and April, and 25 per cent less than a year ago.

With the exception of several range counties in California where the foot and mouth disease caused heavy cattle losses, the board reported live stock conditions as decidedly improved over the same date last year. The Kansas City and Dallas reserve districts reported hard hit several times in recent years, were described as satisfactory this year, with prospects bright for a big calf and lamb yield.

Production of butter and cheese in the largest on record for April and May were described as satisfactory.

Prospects for a full fruit crop were regarded as good except in some of the northwestern states, which suffered from late April and early May frosts.

Sharp Steel Reductions Continue

Weather conditions in many sections were unsatisfactory for cotton picking, the survey reported, adding that some replanting had been necessary. It called attention, however, to increased use of fertilizers and the adoption of new methods in both states to cotton cultivation.

The cotton marketing season opened May 1 but activity was not so brisk as in previous years. The Southwestern cotton season is in full swing and the marketing of manufacturers' goods is active.

Sharp reductions continued in iron and steel production in April and May. The steel and iron shipments were 10 per cent below the same month last year. With the volume of output of iron and steel, this condition was regarded as a reflection on the industry.

Sales of automobiles failed during the month to come up to expectations and as a result the output of cars was reduced. Statistics were declared as indicating a further decline was probable.

Reduced output of rail furnishing a slight edge in rail marketing conditions. The survey showed that the output of rail was 10 per cent below the same month last year. The output of rail was 10 per cent below the same month last year.

IRON MINING DOES

Production of iron ore in the United States was 10 per cent below the same month last year. The output of iron ore was 10 per cent below the same month last year.

MAYORS TO JUDGE LIGHTING SYSTEMS

Rochester Has 21 Different Kinds Installed for Demonstration Purposes

Rochester, June 1. — Mayors of New York state cities, here for the 15th annual meeting of the New York State Conference of Mayors and other city officials, which will open tomorrow evening, will have an opportunity to inspect 21 different methods of street lighting in Rochester during their stay. With the lighting of six new types of lights in various parts of the city today, Rochester becomes probably the only city in the country to be lighted by so many different types of street lights. Mayors will tour the city for an inspection of the various methods of street lighting Tuesday evening.

OFFICIALS QUIET CONCERNING REPLY

Note to Japan Expected to Contain Extracts Showing No Treaty Violations

Washington, June 1. — Strict silence was maintained by officials here today regarding the Japanese note expected to be made to the Japanese note on immigration which was delivered to the state department yesterday by the Japanese ambassador.

President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes are expected to give the subject deliberate study before the work of drafting a reply is undertaken. The Japanese communication raises the issue of the correspondence exchanged between the two governments in connection with the negotiations of the commercial treaty of 1911, arguing that enactment of exclusion legislation by the United States was in violation of the spirit of these negotiations. There is no doubt that the American response will assert that in these contentions, the American statement being supported by extracts from the correspondence which led up to the signing of the treaty of 1911. It is understood that this correspondence discloses the specific reservation made by the state department at the time of complete liberty of action with regard to immigration matters.

POINCARÉ AND CABINET ONCE MORE RESIGN POSTS

Paris, June 1. — President Poincaré today tendered to President Millerand the resignation of himself and his cabinet.

An official communication issued today in connection with the resignation said:

"In conformity with the decision taken immediately after the elections, M. Poincaré at 11:25 o'clock this morning presented to the president of the republic the collective resignation of his cabinet."

23 BODIES OF FIRE VICTIMS FOUND IN RUINS

School for Sub-Normal Girls on Califormian Beach—Rescuer Says Doors and Windows Were Locked

TRAPPED IN BED

Several Unable to Even Get Up and Die in Beds—Many Thrown From Windows in Order to Save Lives

Los Angeles, Calif., June 1. — Twenty-three bodies, including two adults have been recovered from the ruins of the Hope Development School for Sub-Normal Girls at Playa del Rey, on the beach 18 miles from here, which was destroyed by fire last night. Nineteen girls and two women are undergoing treatment in a hospital at Santa Monica.

Nineteen bodies had been identified this afternoon. Among them was that of Mrs. Drew Thomas, 48, the head matron, formerly of Columbus, Ohio. Another victim was Wilfred Ringer, 12, adopted son of the owner of the home. The others identified all were inmates of the institution.

Those injured were children who were hurt when they were either thrown from the building by rescuers or jumped. The firemen were severely burned when struck by a high tension electric wire.

Girls Die in Beds

According to Walter Curtis of Los Angeles, who with his family was attending a beach party near the school and who was one of the first to arrive at the building, all of the doors and windows of the institution were locked. Rescuers who attempted to gain entrance through the doors of the building were turned back and were forced to break a number of windows before they were able to reach the trapped children. When the children finally were reached, he said, they were huddled together and apparently fighting among themselves.

The school is located on a lagoon more than three miles from the nearest fire station. Fanned by the ocean breeze, the building was a wooden structure. When the first fire companies arrived, the building was a mass of flames.

Many of the girls were still in their beds in the dormitory when the first fire apparatus arrived, and several of them died in their beds.

Smoke Blocks Exit

The school was a private institution established several years ago in a building formerly used as a beach resort hotel.

ELKS OPEN STATE CONFAB AT BUFFALO WITH CONCERT

Buffalo, June 1. — The annual convention of the Elks of the state of New York, which opened tonight, with first business sessions tomorrow. The convention is to be held at the Elks club here.

Several thousand visitors were expected to be registered for the gathering by tomorrow and the city was in gala attire to receive them, with the purple and white floating in the breeze on all the main thoroughfares.

ALBANY READY FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Formal Opening of Tercentenary of City Today—Transportation Methods Contrasted

Albany, June 1. — At anchor in the Hudson river, where 300 years ago Hendrick Hudson moored his ship Half-Moon and stepped ashore on what is now the city of Albany, two gray destroyers, the Overton and the John K. Paulding, are anchored today in preparation for the formal opening tomorrow of Albany's tercentenary celebration.

Nearer inshore is anchored a reproduction of the original Half-Moon, and presenting, in contrast to the modern destroyers, vivid comparison of three centuries of progress in water transportation.

Curiously enough there halted near the ancient vessel today the last word in railroad transportation methods, a giant electric locomotive, which further enhanced the comparison between the travel idea of man today and of the pioneer who came to this section in an oiled dug.

All Albany was gay with orange, white and blue flags today. In the churches this morning gratitude was expressed for the safety of the city in the past and prayers were offered for its future, and this afternoon the churches combined in a union service commemorating the 300th anniversary of America's oldest chartered city.

CHANCELLOR OF AUSTRIA SHOT

Condition Very Grave—Had Done Much to Help Rebuild Country After War

(By the Associated Press)

Vienna, June 1. — The Austrian chancellor, Dr. Ignaz Seipel, lies in a hospital here tonight in the gravest condition. A bullet fired by a young railroad employee, Karl Janeschek, penetrated the chancellor's lung, and it remains unaltered there. The surgeons have been unable to extract it.

The chancellor's condition is aggravated by diabetes. Three shots were fired at him, one being wide, and other grazing the skin, and the third penetrating the lung. He was wounded on the train on his return from Wiener Neustadt. He was shot on the train on his return from Wiener Neustadt. He was shot on the train on his return from Wiener Neustadt.

MILLIONAIRES' SONS CONFESS KILLING YOUTH

Crime Said to Have Been Committed Just as Robert Franks Was Enticed into Automobile Near His Home

JESTS WITH POLICE

One of Prisoners Appears Very Calm—Part of Articles of Clothing of Dead Boy Have Been Located

Chicago, June 1. — A metal belt buckle worn by Robert Franks, co-heir to a $4,000,000 estate, who was kidnapped and killed, according to their confession by Nathan K. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, likewise sons of millionaires, was found today as the pair made their second trip of the day over the route taken on the day of Franks' disappearance and death. A pair of shoes worn by the youth were recovered yesterday near Hammond, Ind., where they had been buried.

Attorneys retained by the Loeb family were prepared to go into court tomorrow morning to obtain permission to talk with the client following the refusal of State's Attorney Crows to permit them to see the youths. Attorneys asserted the youths were being examined in the state attorney's office, according to their announcement, by alienists and this is objected to unless an attorney is present, they explained.

Leopold Blames Loeb

During the trip this afternoon a reporter, in the same automobile with Leopold, obtained statements from him relative to the crime. Leopold denounced Loeb, saying the latter planned the kidnapping and slaying, but admitted that he was equally guilty, and that he wrote the $10,000 ransom letter which was sent to the Franks home following the disappearance of the youth and, according to their confession, after the boy was dead.

"It was Loeb," said Leopold, "who enticed Franks into the car and it was he who struck the boy the next instant. Weapons are so repugnant to me that it would have been impossible for me to strike the blow that killed Franks."

"I was driving, while Loeb was sitting in the back seat. The side curtains were on, and Loeb leaned over the front seat and opened the door and called:

"Come here, Robert, we will take you home." "No," replied the boy, "I'm only two blocks. I'll walk."

Struck and Strangled Loeb

"Come here anyway," said "Dick," "I want to tell you about a new tennis racket." Franks came across the street and hopped upon the running board. "Get in," said Loeb, "I want you to meet Nathan Leopold."

Franks got in and the next moment Dick struck him on the head and drew a bandage around his neck, strangling him. It was all over in a minute. I sat there, sick, while the kid kicked and struggled beside me." Leopold bitterly denounced Loeb for what he termed the latter's weakness and became so vehement that he nearly collapsed.

Avoid from this outbreak against his confessed aide in the kidnapping and slaying, Leopold laughed and joked, even making jests at Chief of Detectives Hughes.

Both youths had spent the night in a police station and while neither had slept Leopold appeared calm when the officers called for the prisoners in the morning. He also exchanged pleasantries with a waitress, but Loeb was much disturbed.

PROMINENT DOCTOR SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Says Woman, Found Lifeless in Office, Shot Him—No Theories of Cause Advanced

Harrisburg, Pa., June 1. — Staggering to the house of a neighbor, Dr. Cornelius M. Dailey, 46, well known physician of this city, was found today with a bullet wound through his right lung.

In his office next door, a few moments later, was found the body of Mrs. Anna Mandeck, 47, a widow and patient of Dr. Dailey. Mrs. Mandeck was found sitting lifeless in a chair. Behind the chair lay a pistol, with two cartridges expended. The physician declared the woman shot him.

Police tonight, after several hours of investigation, would not venture a theory of the circumstances under which the double shooting occurred. Relatives of the two principals, although discussing several possible motives, offered nothing to substantiate any.

Neighbors, aroused by the shots, started to investigate, then abandoned the search on the theory the notes might have been caused by bursting of an automobile tire. Fifteen minutes later Dr. Dailey rang his neighbor's door bell, called for an ambulance, and, the neighbors say, declared "that woman shot me." In fragmentary statements made at the hospital, he was said to have declared that the woman wounded him, that he struggled with her for possession of the pistol until he became unconscious and that, to his recollection, he heard only the shot that struck him.

LABOR TROUBLE HUNDREDS DON AND ABANDONED A STRIKE

Come at Time When Nation Trying to Stabilize Currency—Factories Close

Warsaw, June 1. — Labor difficulties have broken out in Poland just as a time when the government is making efforts to improve the currency. A number of important factories throughout the country, unable to pay the workmen's wages, have been compelled either to reduce their staffs to a minimum or close down entirely.

The timely arrival of 200 police and firemen at a factory in Widzew, near Lodz, saved one of its directors from possible death at the hands of workmen at closing time last night. The factory, employing 5,000 hands, announced that it was unable to pay wages for the week. Immediately the workers stormed the building, took possession of the manager's office, and ordered Max Cohn, one of the directors, to sign checks for their pay. He refused, was threatened with death, and was at the mercy of the infuriated factory hands when the police arrived.

PAPERS WANT JAP SUICIDE BURIED AS NATIONAL HERO

(By the Associated Press)

Tokio, June 1. — The suicide of a Japanese outside the ruins of the American embassy has given impetus to the "national spirit movement" against the American exclusion legislation. Comments of the press and public opinion in Tokyo published this morning, indicate that a profound nationwide impression has been created. The newspapers are strongly taking up the suggestion that the suicide should be given a national funeral, since, as one publicist declares, "he has truly expressed the feelings of the Japanese people."

The suicide was carried out according to the strange, romantic Japanese code, which appeals very strongly to Japanese sentiment. He is sure to be regarded as a martyr.

POLICE GUARD LAQUOR

St. Louis, June 1. — Deputy sheriffs with drawn revolvers stood guard over a load of Scotch whiskey, champagne and vermouth for more than five hours today in a garage, when it was found that two men, who trailed the liquor for several miles, might be captured. The truck and the car, which had been seized by George Brown, Federal marshal, as a federal enforcement agent.

The capture was made in the truck, after day had followed the truck from a point west of Union, Clarence Brown, 28, of Rochester, driver, was held for arraignment tomorrow before United States Commissioner Hendrickson.

SMALL GROUP CAN POSTPONE ADJOURNMENT

Leaders of Congress Still Hope Their Plans for Closing of Session on Saturday Will Not Be Blocked

MUCH LEGISLATION

Farm Relief, Barkley Bill, Reclamation, Postal Salaries on Calendar for Action Before End of Term

Washington, June 1. — Although the leaders have plans made for adjournment of congress next Saturday, they concede there is a possibility that advocates of farm relief, railroad and reclamation legislation may block the program.

Representative Longworth, Ohio, the Republican leader, intends to offer an adjournment resolution in the house, probably Tuesday. While there will be opposition, it is agreed that the resolution will be adopted, leaving the question with the senate.

Except for a vote on the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill and a decision as to what shall be done with the Howell-Barkley measure to abolish the Railroad Labor board, the house calendar is practically cleared.

There is a demand in the senate for action on Muncie Shoals, farm relief, and reclamation measures, but under an unanimous consent agreement, none of these can be brought forward until after the senate has voted on the child labor constitutional amendment resolution, probably late tomorrow.

Small Group Can Continue Session

Leaders are doubtful that these three matters can be disposed of within the week. They are hopeful, however, that the next three days will see the situation so clarified that the way will be paved for action on the adjournment resolution.

A small group in the senate, it is conceded, could prevent the adjournment measure from becoming effective. Republican insurgents of both the senate and house have been in conference for several days for discussion of the legislative program.

While recognizing that there is a formidable opposition to adjournment, organization leaders have not given up hope that it will be confined to a protest vote without assuming proportions sufficient to defeat their program.

All of the major supply bills for the government departments for the next fiscal year have been acted upon by both houses. A deficiency measure carrying funds for the soldier bonus and coastal prohibition enforcement is yet to be considered, but the expectation is that this measure can be disposed of within a few days.

Much Work For Few Days

The Howell-Barkley bill, which was favorably reported yesterday by the senate interstate commerce committee will be in order again tomorrow in the house, but there are indications that its supporters there, realizing the impossibility of forcing final action at this session, will permit the sidetracking of this measure for other legislation. Should this situation develop, it is regarded as probable that senate action also will be deferred.

A vote in the house on the McNary-Haugen bill probably will come Tuesday with the friends of the measure apparently convinced that it will be defeated. Realizing the probable fate of this particular bill, advocates of farm relief legislation have been seeking to agree upon some sort of a compromise, but no decision has yet been reached.

SING SING JAIL BREAKER STILL RETAINS LIBERTY

Escaped from Sing Sing Prison Yesterday, Still at Large Tonight

Prison guards spent a futile day searching through the country estate of Frank A. Vanderlip, James H. Mayer, John D. Rockefeller, V. Everst Macy, and other wealthy men.

The prison authorities think Killdare still is hiding within a few miles of the prison, waiting for the calling off of the search. Killdare, who is 23, comes from Kingsman, Ark., and is believed he will try to make his way back there instead of returning to New York. He was captured in New York for attempted burglary and would have been released in seven and a half months.

CATCHER—KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE BALL.

What is the one point to keep in mind when going after high foul?

Answered by RAY SCHALK

Catcher, Chicago White Sox. One of the greatest backstops of all time. Has caught in 100 or more games per season for the past 12 years.

When going after high foul, a bit of golf advice is the thing to keep in mind. Keep your eye on the ball! Do not allow yourself to be bothered by yells or anything else. If you think that you are coming pretty close to the grandstand in your effort to make the catch, stick out your gloved hand in front of you to break the force of any collision. Oftentimes by doing this you will save a collision and be able to snag the fly with the ungloved hand.

The funny thing about it is that you will often make a catch of this kind perfectly, although it looks pretty difficult from the grandstand.

NINTH INNING RALLY

Yellow and White Make It Two Straight From Cooperstown High School in Ninth Inning Rally, Score 10-9.

Two ninth inning rallies featured the game at Cooperstown Saturday afternoon between Oneonta and Cooperstown High school baseball teams, the final score being 10-9. Oneonta in the first half of the ninth pushed across four runners, and Cooperstown in its turn succeeded in puncturing the rubber three times before they could be turned back. The finish of the game was one of the most exciting seen in a long time on the birth diamond of baseball—Doubleday field.

Oneonta secured two runs in the second, but her run in the third was equalled by Cooperstown. The fourth inning passed smoothly, of course preceding a storm. Cooperstown mixed hits with Oneonta errors to excellent advantage in the fifth, securing five rallies, making three contest their game by a score of 6-5. Joseph Adams made his homer in this inning with the bases full, and was immediately elected king of the diamond.

The Yellow and White cut down this lead by one in the sixth, and tied the score in the seventh. The eighth proved uneventful, but Oneonta in the ninth took a four-run lead, which for the time being looked to be a safe margin.

With the start of the Cooperstown batting order up in the last half, however, Cooperstown hopes did not drop, and for a time it looked as if the lake country lads were to even surpass the rally of Oneonta. The first man walked, and the next three secured hits, leaving one run to tie the game. Shaw then put on the clamp, however, and the next man was out. Leamy to Kell, while the last two were fanned. These two strikeouts brought the total of Shaw to 15, an exceptional number.

CHARLES BROOKINS
WORLD'S LOW HURDLE CHAMPION

Charles Brookins will not win the 220 yard low hurdles for the United States in the coming Olympic games, nor even compete in that event. The reason is very simple—there is no 220 yard or 200 metre low hurdle race in the Olympic games and there hasn't been since the St. Louis Olympiad in 1904. Brookins will try out for the 400 metre hurdles, however, and should make the Olympic team without much trouble (although the hurdles are 6 inches higher), as he can run a quarter of a mile under 50 seconds. The 400 metre hurdle race was won at the last games by Frank Looney in the world's record time of 54 seconds. Brookins' time of 33 seconds for the 220 yard low hurdles is, in my estimation, as remarkable as any track record that has ever been made. The old record of 33 3-5, made by Alvin Kraenzlein, stood for 25 years and was equalled only twice. (Copyright, 1924, Associated Editors.)

THREE OUT OF FOUR

Oneonta Giants Defeat Syracuse Olympics Twice and Chappie's Colored Stars

DEFEATED BY JOHNSTOWN

Thomas' Men Trim Olympics, 12 to 1, and 7 to 0, Memorial Day—Take 6 to 2 Game Saturday From Chappie Johnson's Colored Stars—Lose to Johnstown, 6 to 3, Sunday—Work of Team Pleases Fans.

Hitting timely and often and fielding brilliantly behind excellent pitching, the Oneonta Giants won their three opening contests at Nehaw park on Memorial day and Saturday, and lost the contest at Johnstown yesterday through a combination of extremely hard luck and a wretched diamond. The Syracuse Olympics were defeated 12 to 1 and 7 to 0 on Friday, and Chappie Johnson's Colored Stars submitted to a 6 to 3 defeat Saturday. The game was lost at Johnstown by a 6 to 3 count. The work of the team, which Manager Roy Thomas has whipped together, was most satisfying to the fans. The outfield was fast and can hit and the infield is the best that has ever represented the city. The fielding in all four contests was sharp and clean and the hitting of the men was all that could be desired. The catching staff displayed all the pep and stream of old and did much to delight the fans.

The work of the twirlers was more than satisfactory. In the first game on Friday Wagon gave a wonderful exhibition of twirling, letting down the Olympics with but five hits. He covered himself with still more glory with the willow, making five hits, one of them a triple, out of as many trips to the plate. Lodestra pitched a fine game in the second half of the double-header, allowing his opponents but three hits in seven innings. On Saturday Davis pitched a fine game and Scanlon displayed his usual skill and cool judgment on Sunday.

The Initial Games of Season.

The Giants had nothing like opposition in their opening games, obtaining more than enough runs in the first to have defeated the Olympics, but just to make it all the more certain, they kept on adding counters as the game progressed and wound up their last trip to the plate with another tri.

The game was played in a cold, biting wind, so bitter that the stadium was considerably depleted of their occupants long before the concluding act had been staged, the fans having begun to leave as soon as the first game was over. Many who are known to be present on every occasion when their work permits refused to sit and shiver in the cold breezes that crossed the park and left the grounds to return when summer really arrives here.

The opposition's only run was scored in the second. Randall, first man

Platt of Utica, George Platt of Oneonta and Harry Elgarbrot of Amsterdam spent the week-end with relatives here and at Maryland.

LADIES OF WELLS BRIDGE. — Serve Meals in Connection with the Franklin Baptist Association. — Wells Bridge, June 1. — The ladies of the Wells Bridge Baptist church will serve dinners and suppers in the church parlors in connection with the Franklin Baptist association, which convenes in this church. Suppers served from 5 p. m. until all are served, on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 3 and 4. Dinner at 12 o'clock Wednesday, June 4. Price of suppers 25c. Dinners 40c. The public is cordially invited.

Students' League at Milford. — Milford, June 1. — Crowds have been turned away at many places unable to get in to hear and see these young people of many different nations talking and singing. Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society and the Epworth League, they will give a free entertainment at 7:30 Wednesday evening, at the Presbyterian church. At 6 o'clock the members of these two organizations are asked to meet these young people from Bible School, park, get acquainted with them, and take supper with them at the chapel.

Entertained the Entertainment. — They came in a specially decorated car about the size of the Oneonta-Cooperstown bus. The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Albert Beach, on Wednesday afternoon.

Visitors in Maryland. — Maryland, June 1. — John D. Platt of Utica, George Platt of Oneonta, and Harry C. Elgarbrot of Amsterdam were visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Emma Conner, from Friday until Sunday. Decoration day being Mrs. Conner's 72nd birthday.

Boarder Cuts Off Up. — Ithaca, June 1. — As a result of the dairy improvement association work in New York state, the bell continues to toll for cows which are refusing to produce milk and butter fat to pay their board and give their owners a little profit in addition.

B. E. Mulliken of the Western Adirondack association is one of the farmers who reports a number of cows which have been turned into beef during January, the month covered by the last report made here in 21 W. Taillie, Jr. of the state department.

Ralph Hume, of the same association, reports that sometimes it seems as if the wrapping of the boarders takes longer than it should, but nevertheless his association got rid of at least three during the month.

The following is the P. A. association in Tompkins county are better off by four appreciable cows which were turned into beef during the month.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Back Weak and Painful. Mrs. Miller Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

WITH BARED HEADS

MANY STAND SILENT ON FRIDAY AS FLAGS AND VETERANS GO BY

Long Parades Attest That Patriotism Still Abides with Reverence and High Regard—Hundreds of Children in Line Bearing Flags—Thousands of Veterans by Main George L. Becker.

That the passing of the years has by no means lessened the feeling of loyalty to the nation and of high regard for those who in all wars have fought that it might endure was definitely shown in Oneonta on Friday last, not only at business places but also in homes, but practically every house had its bunting, this being no less notable in the case of foreign-born citizens than in that of those to whom America is in fact native soil. Evidently those who came from the Old World, here to build new homes, know as well as any what the opportunities are that America offers and what the land of Freedom is.

The parade, which formed on Academy street, opposite the armory, at 10:30 o'clock and a little later moved down Fairview street to Main, and thence to the cemetery, was led by Mayor George W. Augustin and aides, city police and officials, the order of march being substantially as announced in The Star of that morning. Company G band headed the first division and was followed by the company itself, under command of Captain Baker. With practically full ranks, it acted as escort and guard of honor for the E. D. Farmer post, twenty-three members of which followed in motor cars, and also for the membership of the Woman's Relief corps.

The second division, with Capt. U. A. Ferguson as assistant marshal, was headed by neoten's band, the section embracing the Spanish War veterans, the Ladies' auxiliary, American Legion and auxiliary, Boy and Girl Scouts, the pupils of the Normal and Public schools and the Oneonta Fire department, followed the parade. Of each organization there was a notably good representation, but particularly so that of the grade pupils of the school, of whom there were 80 files of young boys and girls, marching in good alignment and each pupil carrying an American flag. This total of 320 grade pupils was a most impressive spectacle, showing as it did the spirit of loyalty and reverence which is being instilled in that younger generation which is the hope of the world.

Notable in the parade of veterans was the fact that there were three generations of one family in it. This was the Blanchard family, which was represented in the oldest generation by A. D. Blanchard, who served in the Civil war; T. E. Blanchard, who was with Company G of the First New York regiment in the Spanish war; and Adrian Blanchard, who was a soldier in the World war. All reside in Oneonta, and it is not likely that there were many lines of march in the country on Decoration day who could show like representation.

Not less notable, also was the fact that there was among the throng of spectators which filled the sidewalks along the whole line of march such general recognition of the colors and of the veterans as to indicate that true when the flag which preceded the men of the Grand Army came abreast, all apparently recognizing the splendid qualities of those who sixty or more years ago helped to make this nation one and indivisible.

From Main street, the bands as they entered the driveway leading to Riverside cemetery, struck up a solemn air, and with measured step all proceeded to the monument erected many years ago in honor of the soldiers of the Rebellion who died in defense of their country—a monument surmounted by an eagle and bearing upon its four sides the names of the great battles in which the soldiers of Oneonta contended.

The Exercises at the Cemetery.
The exercises at the cemetery were short but very impressive. Following the introductory address by William H. Brown, commander of E. D. Farmer post, and the prayer by the post chaplain, William Field, Sergeant Harry Diener, in charge of the local United States army recruiting station read General Orders No. 11, promulgated on May 8, 1928, by General John A. Logan, then national commander of the G. A. R., and constituting the first call for the observance of Memorial day. Sergeant Diener read the orders in a clear, strong voice and his military bearing made a very favorable impression.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address was delivered with much feeling and understanding by Peter Molinari, a high school senior. Following the dedication of the monument by the school children, who, grouped just in back of the aged veterans of the Rebellion, threw sprig blossoms upon the base of the shaft which stands as a symbol of the patriotism and valor of Oneonta's sons in the days of '61-'65, a song sung from Company G gave the triple salute to the dead and a bugler sounded "Taps," the soldier's requiem. The Company G band, which had played several appropriate selections during the exercises, rendered the Star Spangled Banner and every head was uncovered as the throng stood at rigid attention until the last note of the national anthem had died away.

The address of the day, a short but deeply impressive tribute to the dead of all wars, was delivered by Hon. George L. Becker, who gave every word an added meaning by the power of his eloquence. The address is given in full below.

The exercises over the column reformed and marched out of the cemetery in the various places where the units disbanded. In front of the Municipal building, Company G and the veteran organizations and their auxiliaries halted, waving into company front and stood at attention as the cars containing the Civil war veterans went slowly past, a touching tribute from the younger veterans to those of a day long past.

Judge Becker's Address.
It is a pleasant thought and speaks well for the goodness of human nature that just the time of year when the whole vegetable kingdom and the whole animal kingdom of our country show most vigorous life we should pause awhile to remember our dead. It is a pleasant thought that this nation is one that grew up spontaneously and naturally. More than 40 years ago communities which had never before been connected by their common interest in the same cause were united to decorate the graves

LEAGUE LEADERS TODAY

Scranton Team of New York Pennsylvania League to Oppose Oneonta Giants at Neahwa Park at 4:15.

A chance to see what Thomas Oneonta Giants can do against a team of the highest calibre will be afforded local fans at Neahwa Park this afternoon when the Scranton team, now in the first position in the New York-Pennsylvania league, will be the attraction. During the past week Scranton has straggled its way to the top of the league and with a guarantee from the president of the club that the regular lineup will be used and that "We will give you a real game—no horse play," the prospects are bright for a contest that will keep every fan on edge. There will be no advance in prices.

On Memorial day Scranton went in to first place with a double win over Wilkes-Barre. Yesterday, at Utica, the Miners kept at the top by a 6 to 5 win. Hickey, left fielder, putting the game on with a home run in the eighth. The Scranton lineup will be as follows: Hood or Laurence, 2b; Comstock, cf; Hickey, lf; Topel, 1b; Rose, 3b; Morris, rf; Speirs, ss; Ticker, c; Ormand, Blossom, McCaffrey, Victor, Drake or Humphrey, p.

Topel led the league in hitting last year. He is also a crack basketball player and was a member of the Centrals of Rochester during the winter. Morris, who is leading the league in slugging so far this year, is also a star football player and was captain of the University of North Carolina eleven two years ago. Comstock is reputed to be as fast on the bases as the famous Achdeacon and later will try to break Achdeacon's world's record of 13 2-5 seconds around the paths. Pitcher Humphrey won both ends of a doubleheader on May 26 and became famous as an "iron man" by winning four doubleheaders in the Eastern Shore league last year. Jack Egan, former major league outfielder and former manager of the Milwaukee and Providence teams, is the Scranton manager.

Although Manager Thomas has not yet announced his pitching choice, it is believed that Walsh will get the assignment today. Walsh made himself solid with local fans on Memorial day when he won the first game with the Syracuse Olympics, allowing but five hits and proving that he is a slugger par excellence by slugging out five hits, including a triple, in as many times to the plate. It has been demonstrated that Oneonta has a slugging, clean fielding team and fans are bound to be afforded a real treat this afternoon.

On Tuesday the All Professionals of Albany will play at Neahwa park and on Thursday on Friday the D. & H. Generals of Albany, a team which has afforded Oneonta outfits many a hard battle in the past, will be here. Tuesday will be ladies' day, all ladies being admitted free.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENING DAY

C. E. McKean and Miss Marjorie Wheeler Winners in Golf Tournament—Dinner Par Excellence and Enjoyable Dance.

Opening day at the Country club on Memorial day was usually successful in every way, culminating in the dinner dance in the evening, at which there was a large attendance and all enjoying its features in every way. The Millards served an exceptionally choice dinner at night, the diners being divided into three groups, which were served at half hour intervals to the satisfaction of all. The dining room with a la carte service at all hours is proving very satisfactory to all club members and there will no doubt be a liberal patronage throughout the season. Music for the dancing was provided by Miss Elizabeth Marshall and gave good satisfaction.

S. E. McKean won the men's handicap golf tournament, despite his handicap of plus 2, and carried away the golf bag. He turned in a score of 67 (35 and 32) with his handicap, giving him a net score of 70. Roscoe C. Briggs won the second prize, a Zeydonn putter, with a score of 82-12 or net of 71. Marcus Hemstreet made the round in 82, creditable to a young golfer, and with a handicap of 10 left him 72. For fourth place J. L. Bagg with 89-12 or net of 77 was tied with H. S. Rowe with 100-23, net 77. It was decided by a toss up and Rowe won the golf ball.

Other entrants scores follow: George Hughesy, 102-14, 88; M. J. Bennett, 100-20, 80; R. E. Brigham, 111-18, 92; G. F. Williamson, 102-16, 86; J. A. Stitts, 96-14, 82; C. F. Baylis, 92-13, 80; Max Morris, 119-20, 88; C. B. Lattin, 99-10, 89; R. C. Lauren, 119-20, 89; Mervale Bell, 115-23, 82; Duncan Briggs, 112-25, 88; Robert Leamy, 104-23, 81; Damon Getman, 104-20, 86; K. B. Griffin, 85-10, 75; Bert Smith, 96-12, 84.

Mrs. J. A. Dewar donated the balls for the ladies' tournament and low ball was won by Miss Marjorie Wheeler, who turned in a 27 with her handicap, netting her 52. The high score for the tournament went to Miss Jackson with 93 minus 8, leaving her 85 net.

of their soldiers and to dedicate the living to the principles to which their soldiers died. So the custom grew until governors of states and the presidents of the nation had to recognize it and set the day apart.

It is a pleasant thought that when the first beams of this morning's sun came dawning through the mist and spray of the Atlantic to kiss the shores of New England they brightened the faces of people who proudly would rise and join in observance of this day; that then those morning sunbeams went slanting, dancing on over the clouds and woods and fields and hills and valleys of our pleasant land, on to our western shores to kiss the faces of people who were among others of our countrymen to Accused Alleged That Stiles Shot With Intent to Kill and Later Admitted It Was to Intimidate—Further Hearings Today.

State Troopers at Stamford were called to the Pine Lake Amusement park near Davenport Center late Saturday night to investigate a shooting affair. According to reports made by the Troopers, John Giebelhouse, an alleged thug, complained that Harry Stiles, manager of the place, attempted to shoot him earlier in the evening.

On arrival at the resort the Troopers took Giebelhouse and all witnesses to the office of Justice James P. Dolg, and detained Stiles in custody pending the outcome of the investigation. After taking the testimony of the witnesses, Justice Dolg issued a warrant for the arrest of Stiles on the charge of assault and attempt to kill. Stiles was held in $1,000 bail, which was furnished, and a further examination will be held today, Monday, at 1 p. m. Former City Judge Everett H. Holmes will appear for Stiles.

According to the allegations made by Giebelhouse, he was ordered to the dance hall and candy store by Margaret Cellar who, he asserts, is one of the owners of the place. Soon after his arrival an argument was started by Stiles, it ending when Giebelhouse went outside to care for some work. On his return fifteen minutes later Stiles attempted to eject Giebelhouse and when the latter objected and refused to go he alleges that Stiles pulled an automatic revolver and fired two shots at him, which he says were with intent to kill.

Stiles relates a different story of the occurrence. He declares that he discharged one of the employees and when the latter refused to leave the premises he called upon Giebelhouse, who had been appointed as deputy sheriff on the request of Stiles, to remove him. This Giebelhouse refused to do and, according to Stiles, threatened to assault and to kill him, and did actually assault him. Stiles then, as he insists, to protect himself and intimidate Giebelhouse and prevent further assault, pulled the revolver and fired two shots into the floor, and not at Giebelhouse.

According to Stiles he called the State Troopers to care for Giebelhouse but when they arrived friends of the latter told their story and stated to the officers that they had been shot with intent to kill Giebelhouse.

The stories of the two participants are conflicting and the real facts will probably be disclosed at the further hearing today, when it will doubtless be determined whether Stiles is to be held for the grand jury or not. Mr. Stiles states that he is in earnest in his desire to conduct the resort free from rowdism and that he greatly regrets the occurrence, but that he must insist on running the place and be able to eject even employees when their conduct is not satisfactory to himself.

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR

Mont. Clyde George Blum, Graduate of Oneonta High School, died at Mt. Vernon on Decoration Day.

Mr. Blum, June 1. — On Decoration Day, Friday, May 30, Clyde George Blum, a gallant soldier of the World War, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Blum, of Milford township. His illness dated from that conflict, where he was gassed while bringing in a wounded man who had also been gassed, a heroic deed for which he received a medal of honor. After his discharge at the close of the war he was employed as sales manager of the J. M. Blum Co. of New York City.

where he remained until a year ago last fall, when tuberculosis developed from the effects of the gas received in battle. For a year and a half he was in the Mt. Vernon sanatorium but two weeks ago went to the parental home, where he expired on the national day of memory, giving his life to save another and for his country as truly as if he had fallen on the field of battle.

The deceased was born in Hartwick in 1894 and when he was a young man the family moved to the farm in the town of Milford where he died. He was at all times and under all conditions a good citizen and a fine example of young manhood. He was a true sportsman, a great lover of nature and a practical business man. A graduate of the Oneonta High School, class of 1913, he was at one time employed in the Press office in that city. Later he was employed on the state geological survey in this section. He was also a member of Company G while employed in that city and later was transferred to Company M of Mohawk, which formed a part of the 27th division when war was declared against Germany.

His military record is one that should be applauded, but which because of his retiring disposition, he hardly ever mentioned, even his closest friends. The small number of events which the writer has obtained were drawn from him in small fragments and carefully pieced together.

He was a member of the Second United States Corps, A. E. F., as sergeant in Company M, 107th Infantry, 27th division — this corps was composed of only two infantry divisions, the 27th New York and 30th Southern, and was under the command of Field Marshal Haig, 5th British Army, the insignia of which was an American eagle and a British lion and was a very conspicuous emblem during the smashing of the Hindenburg line on September 26, 1918, on a very few of those boys returning home.

Later he was transferred to the 113th Infantry, 28th division, and promoted to Lieutenant of Infantry as intelligence officer, which position he held when discharged. It was while he was serving as a "sniper" in the 107th Infantry that he received the gas—a rifle ball had passed through his gas mask and when he attempted to use it, at the gas alarm, it was practically of no use to him.

The funeral, which will be private, will be held at his late home today at 3 p. m. Interment will be in Mt. Vernon cemetery. A firing squad from the Oneonta post of the American Legion will take part in the service.

hood distinguished for his kindness of heart and willingness always to lend a helping hand. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and in church, home and community his death will be deplored. In Oneonta, also, where much of his school life was spent and where he subsequently was employed, the most profound regret will be felt.

Lieut. Blum is survived by his parents, above named, by one brother, Claude Blum of Watervliet, and by two sisters, Della and Doris Blum, residing at home, also by his grandmother, Mrs. Della Spoor. He was also a cousin of Walter Blum of Oneonta.

Dan Sherman Home.

Dan Sherman arrived home Sunday evening after closing a successful theatrical season, his last engagement having been at the Scollay Square theatre at Boston, Mass. Mr. Sherman expects to at once commence his work with the Willmar company selling Hudson cars. Mr. Sherman has recently dedicated to the town a song, the title being, "O, O, Oneonta." It will doubtless soon be heard from the stage of one of Oneonta's theatres.

To Represent Oneonta Elks. A. J. Courtney of Walton will represent the Oneonta lodge of Elks at the annual convention of that order now in session for four days at Buffalo. Mr. Courtney, so far as is known to the officers, will be the sole delegate from the Oneonta lodge.

VERY PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Ceremony at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Seybolt, Under the Auspices of the Elks Club, and M. Robertson Street of New York City.

Miss Helen Elizabeth Seybolt and H. Robertson Skel of New York City were united in marriage through a very pretty home wedding celebrated Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Seybolt, 17 Elm street, in presence of about one hundred fifty friends. Following the reception of informal nature, Dr. and Mrs. Skel left on a wedding trip to Lake Mohonk where a short time will be spent. They will make their home at Bedford Hills and New York City.

At 8 o'clock to the strains of Wagner's Wedding March from "Lohengrin" Little Miss Jean and Master John Seybolt, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seybolt of this city, the former a brother of the bride, lead the bridal party to a bank of ferns with gladioli, peonies and roses of pink and white, where the ring service of the Presbyterian church was conducted by Dr. J. C. Russell of the First Presbyterian church.

With the groom was Arthur Seybolt, best man. The maid of honor was Miss Honnelynn Lamberson of Montclair, N. J. The bride on the arm of her father, Alva Seybolt, was followed by the ushers, Manuel Matzeno, and Jay Gould of New York City and Ray Trimmer of Westfield, N. J.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a train of white satin and tulle and a Juliette cap veil was carried with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a dress of pink georgette and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Following the wedding and the informal reception a delicious collation lunch was served in the dining room, which was trimmed in snapdragon in pink and white, the main rooms being decorated in these colors.

Stuart Pratt of this city presided at the piano and accompanied Oscar Shannon of Larchmont, who pleasantly rendered several solos.

Included in the array of bride's presents were not only a wealth of beautiful and useful furnishings, silver and glass, but as well a number of quite unusual gifts of rare charm.

The bride is a graduate of Oneonta High School and of the Oneonta State Normal school, and in spite of the fact that a few years have been spent as an instructor in the schools of Glen Ridge, has always considered Oneonta her home, and here, as well as in Glen Ridge, a wide circle of friends will wish for her every married happiness. She is a member of the Clonian sorority.

The groom, Dr. Skel, son of Mrs. Frank Skel of Bedford Hills and New York City, is a graduate of Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., class of 1909, and of the Physicians and Surgeons College of New York City, class of 1912. Soon after his graduation from the latter institution Mr. Skel entered the service of the United States army in the Medical Corps of the Air Service. He is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity.

While the practice of Dr. Skel as an oculist is still young, still he has shown himself a young man of not only exceptional natural ability, but of earnest application and excellent training as well.

Included among the guests from out of this city in attendance at the ceremony were Mrs. Frank Skel of Bedford Hills, Fred F. Skel of Chicago, Mrs. I. C. Jordan and John Seybolt of Middletown, Crosby J. Seybolt of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Broadfoot and Master Robert and Miss Marian Broadfoot of Sidney, Mrs. Hattie Walker of Brockport, Mrs. Charles Addis of Mountain Lakes, N. J., Mrs. A. L. Strong of Monticello, Miss Honnelynn Lamberson and Miss Jean Bond and Harold Broadbent of Montclair, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Downey of New Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Shannon of Larchmont, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Trimmer of Westfield, N. J., Mrs. Laurelot Stevens of Buffalo, and Miss Laura Clements, Manuel Matzeno, Jay Gould, Arthur Elsey and Albert Elsey, all of New York City.

Funeral of John McDougal.

Funeral services for the late John McDougal were held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the grave in Glenwood cemetery in this city. The pastor of the Methodist church at Fly Creek, Rev. C. E. Newell, officiated, and a goodly number of friends from Oneonta and vicinity gathered for the commitment. The bearers were friends of the deceased from Fly Creek. Members of the family who accompanied the body to Oneonta were Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDougal and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chapin of Fly Creek.

BUCK-ELLIOTT WEDDING

Popular Oneontans United in Marriage Friday Evening.

George Dewey Buck and Miss Helen Louise Elliott, both of this city, were united in marriage at a quiet ceremony performed Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. Charles S. Pendleton, of the Main Street Baptist church. They were attended by Devere F. Still and Miss Anna Mae Markle, both of Oneonta. The bride's gown was of cocoa brown canton crepe and she wore a hat to match. The bridesmaid wore black canton crepe.

Upon leaving the parsonage the happy couple was escorted in a decorated car to the home of the bride's parents, where an informal reception was held, attended by 40 relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Buck were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts, including money, silverware, cut glass and linen.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott of 22 Valleyview street and was formerly employed at the Quality Silk company mill. The groom is a popular trainman on the Delaware and Hudson railroad. Both are delightful young people with many friends who wish them a long and happy wedded life. After June 3 Mr. and Mrs. Buck will be at home at a Clinton street.

Among the guests at the reception were the following from out of the city: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith and children, William Elliott, Miss Irene Elliott and Stephen Smith of Schenectady and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner of Laurens.

DEATHS

Mrs. Anna Page Cummings passed away at her home at 17 Pine street Saturday morning at about 5:30 o'clock, following a general decline in health, due to her advanced years. She had been ill for several months and confined to her bed the past two months. Funeral services will be held from the home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton of the Main Street Baptist church officiating. Burial will be made at the Plains cemetery.

Mrs. Cummings was born in England in 1847. When about eight years of age she came to this country with her parents who settled at Westford, and later going to Middlefield, where a large part of her life before marriage was spent. In 1867 she was united in marriage with Ebert Cummings of Milford, and they resided at Middlefield and Milford until coming to this city about 43 years ago.

Mrs. Cummings died about seven years ago. Surviving Mrs. Cummings are a daughter, Mrs. F. H. Driggs and a grandson, Gilbert Driggs, who resided with her; a son, Gilbert S. Cummings of Franklin; a brother, Fred Page of Middlefield, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Hanni, who also made her home with Mrs. Cummings.

Mrs. Cummings was a member of the Main Street Baptist church and for many years was active in the work of that organization, only retiring when forced by her health. She was a loving and devoted mother, being the best of her effort to her household, and the family in its sorrow will have the sympathy of a host of friends.

observe this day, to come together as we now come, to scatter flowers as we now scatter them, to feel the emotions that we now feel, to listen to those noble words we listen to today "that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic! we mingle our tears with our flowers for your dead as we observe your ranks so thin and few where once your mighty armies fairly shook our country's sod.

Veterans of the war with Spain! we mingle our flowers with yours upon the graves of your gallant dead. We rejoice that although gray hairs begin to gleam, in the main your limbs, your voices and your hearts are just as firm and vigorous yet for country as in the old days when you marched off to war.

Veterans of the World War! our flowers for your comrades gone are fresh and sweet. It seems like only the other day that the four horsemen of the Apocalypse were stabbing their spears into our souls while reproachful spirit voices of innocent children kept calling, calling to us from where the Lusitania sank demanding if we would still cry peace when there was no peace but only militarism gone mad to plunder the world. But sentiment here gradually consolidated. Then came the call to arms. Uncle Sam was himself again. Out from among our lovers of peace sprang four millions of our boys each answering, "Here am I."

Whether you learned your love of country from the stories told you as children upon your mothers' knees or from the good books in your good American homes, or from patriotic observances like these, or inhaled it in the free air that caresses this our land of liberty and you caught it like the measles unaware, not knowing that you had it till it broke out, I do not know. But this I know: When you heard that call of your country in its hour of great need you left your homes and friends without a whimper, endured with patience the drudgery of training camp, inspired your associates with the fire of your own resolution, stepped out and did your duty with the ardor of boys, with the firmness of men, right up to the full spirit and tradition of the Spanish war, the Rebellion and the Revolution; in full accord, I say, with the time-honored, settled principle of the great United States of America that it never draws its sword except in the cause of liberty nor sheathes that sword except in victory.

What more shall I say? That military leaders are no longer our greatest men? It is true that "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." It is true. But it is also true that we can never safely forget to cherish the memory of our soldier dead; because it is only as we tackle our peace problems with the same unselfish, united, patriotic zeal with which we fought our wars that good shall surely be the product of our work and future generations of better citizens arise to bless the memory of this generation.

Seriously ill at Dover, N. J. Many friends in Oneonta will learn with regret of the serious illness of W. D. Buell at his home in Dover, N. J. Mr. Buell was formerly a resident of this city, where he carried on the profession of chiropractor. He was also for a long time a conductor on the trolley line. Mr. Buell's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tripp of Cohasset, left on the sleeper for Dover Saturday morning.

Brake Squeals and Howls Easily Stopped

When you apply the brakes, does your car come to a quick, smooth, noiseless stop, or does it stop with a succession of screeches and howls. Brakes that screech, howl and chatter when applied can usually be made to operate quietly and efficiently if you will take about half an hour to give them a little attention.

To find out what is causing the noise, examine the brake lining. Last week in showing you how to adjust the brakes, I described how to test the clearance between the brake band and the drum. If you have allowed more space between the band and the drum at one side than you have on the other, it is almost certain that your brakes will squeal when applied. The clearance must be the same all round, about the thickness of a visiting card between the lining and the drum.

If the clearance appears to be all right, then you will have to remove the brake bands and examine them. If you notice that the lining has worn more on one side than on the other, you can be almost certain that you have found the trouble. The cause for uneven wear in the brake lining may be due to a bent band or improper adjusting screws. If you are not sure about how to adjust the brake bands, refer to the article on brake adjustment last week.

BRAKE LINING DEFECTS

If the lining appears to be bearing on the drum equally all round, notice if the rivets are properly countersunk. The heads must be below the top of the lining. If the rivets come up level with the top of the lining, they will cut the brake drum and certainly cause squeals and screams. In any case if you find that the lining is worn so badly that the rivets come up to the top of the lining, it is better to have the brakes relined. This is a job that should be done by a mechanic. If the lining is put on either too loose or too tight, the brakes will not act properly. A good mechanic can do the job very quickly and at a small cost.

If, however, the rivets are well countersunk, and the lining appears to be bearing equally all round, then you still have a lot of life left in the band, and the noise is probably due to dirt or grit on the surface of the lining. If the brakes are operated in a very harsh manner, the lining may be slightly burned or glazed. In either of these cases, the remedy is simple. Take a stiff wire brush and some gasoline and scrub the lining thoroughly. If you do not possess a wire brush, then wash the band with gasoline and roughen the surface with the edge of a file to remove the glaze.

Other noises that come from the brake mechanism are caused by loose brake rods or connections. Sometimes a brake rod goes very near some part of the chassis and when the car is running the vibration causes it to rattle against the chassis. It is a good idea to get a piece of light spring and attach one end to the brake rod and the other end to a part of the chassis that will hold the rod away from the part it now strikes.

All defective brakes do not squeal, squeak or howl when applied. Sometimes they go to the other extreme and are quite noiseless when applied, but unfortunately they stop the car within a reasonable distance. In this case if the lining itself is not worn out, the trouble may be caused by oil or grease on the lining. After you have cleaned the lining, look for the cause of the trouble. This will generally be found to be a worn felt washer on the axle shaft which allows the grease to creep through and get on the wheels and lining, and a new felt washer will generally cure the trouble.

NEXT WEEK—HOW TO PREVENT WEAR AND NOISE IN UNIVERSAL JOINTS

Various Ways to Avoid Bad Service in Starter

The starter motor takes the heaviest strain from the storage battery through brushes. It sometimes happens that these brushes for various reasons are not making proper contact, and this means more or less failure of the system. When trouble arises in this system these brushes should be carefully examined. Again one of the cells of the storage battery runs down below the others, which are therefore called upon to do more work than they are able to handle. Also a grain of grit or foreign matter may get between the contact points of a switch and make a world of trouble before it is discovered and dislodged.

Brass polish should never be used on nickel trimmings, as abrasive particles in the polish scratch the plating.

Automobile Notes

Loose battery terminals may be tightened by using a thin sheet of tin-foil.

One never appreciates how grand it is to drive slowly until one has hit it up once too often.

Always test your brakes when starting, and have them inspected frequently.

In the United States and Canada there are 88 per cent of the registered motor vehicles of the world.

Brass polish should never be used on nickel trimmings, as abrasive particles in the polish scratch the plating.

LIGHTS USED ON DIFFERENT CARS

Various Little Details Owner
Should Know to Save Lamp Troubles.

(By ERWIN GREER, President, American College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

The lightning bug is brilliant. Yet it hasn't any mind. For it blunders through existence with its headlight on behind.

For if its lightning bug's headlight is standard equipment, as in his one speed (forward) transmission. Consequently Nature, not he, is to blame. Regardless of his defect the title of my story stands pat. I still maintain that there are headlights on the front of an automobile just as there are light bulbs behind the steering wheel. To illustrate.

Jones used to buy bulbs for his car which either threw out as much illumination as a glow worm, or burnt out almost immediately. It cost him quite some money before he found that even the onerous little headlight bulb had to be humored exactly as did the engine.

What Jones didn't know was that every car has an individual lighting system of either a six-volt, twelve-volt or eighteen-volt plant; that the manufacturer either connected each lamp socket to two separate wires (double contact base), or used the metal frame-work of the car for return, running only one wire to each socket (single contact base).

House Lamps Uniform. Jones thought that motor lamps could be bought as one buys his house lamps. That lamps for home lighting were uniform in certain communities. That both cellar and parlor lights were of the same voltage? He was right about the home lighting, but wrong about his automobile lamps.

One day he ran into an accessory store where the salesman knew his business. This chap passed Jones a few questions that got him all bawled up:

"What voltage is your battery? Do you want a single or a double contact lamp and what candle power? Or, do you want a B or C lamp?" inquired the salesman.

"I don't know," stammered Jones, "I thought—"

"But you shouldn't guess at an important thing like that," snapped the salesman. "It's fellows like you that buy blindly and then run down the lamp manufacturer simply because you don't know what type lamp is needed. You can't buy any of our lamps until you find out what kind your car should carry."

Jones acknowledged mistake. Jones went home furious. As soon as he quit seeing red he dug up the read it. Interested, he went over to the local library and made a thorough study of motor lamps in general. Then he went back to this salesman and bought his lamps, apologized, thanked him for saving him future money, and installed the new lamps. His lighting troubles have all disappeared. He acknowledges that he was at fault—that he went about his headlight troubles with a light head—and that the manufacturer did make good lamps.

Reader, are you in Jones' predicament, or did you become acquainted with your lamps in time to save money and temper? That salesman sure had the right idea. He woke Jones up and Jones reciprocated by becoming a steady customer.

up, caught, Gaughan, the catcher, also got a safe crack at the sphere, which went through the right field, of Randall's error.

Wilcox was the first man on the Oneonta roster to get a chance at Morgan's offerings, and he was pleased after having had two strikes recorded on the indicator. Tommy mistook where the ball was going to be hit and after Fitch had come to bat and a merry little run up ensued, with Tommy returned as victor when the second batter dropped a throw after having handled the ball three previous times perfectly. Altogether the ball changed hands 11 times in this play, Fitch bunted, putting Wilcox on the third corner, whence he scored on Harner's first of two doubles. Eckstein was passed and Lobes grounded out, Harner taking third. Scanlon's single scored Harner and Eckstein. After that there was nothing to it.

Eckstein got three doubles out of five times at bat and Walsh a triple and four singles out of five trips to the platter. Not so bad for a hurler, the pitcher, was generous with the passes, leaving Berch, while Walsh held down his gifts to a couple, in strike outs, also, the Oneonta had it on the visitors, fanning seven, while Morgan was choked up with five.

Oneonta 7—Olympics 0.

Hitting timely and taking full advantage of the frequent Syracuse mis-plays, Oneonta won the second game of the afternoon, a seven inning affair, 7 to 0. Lodestra pitched a brilliant game, allowing the opposition

but three scattered hits, and was supported by a defense that was supplying the rule rather than the exception.

Kimball, Olympic twirler, had a pushing, underhand delivery and Oneonta hit his offerings safely only five times but the blows were registered at timely moments. Syracuse failed almost completely to solve Lodestra's pitching system and played a ragged game in the field.

In the second inning Harner and Eckstein collided when they both went after Michels' single over short and Harner was spiked in the leg, the injury forcing him to leave the game. Mistack, one of the most useful men who has ever graced the local diamond, finished the game at short field, playing the position in brilliant fashion. In the sixth he electrified

the crowd by digging a hard hit ball out of the dirt and throwing while off belance, catching his man at first.

Lobes added his bit to the pretty play by aging into the air for the throw.

Oneonta broke into the scoring column in the second with three counters. Eckstein, first up, was walked, reached second on the Syracuse catch-er's error, took third when Manager

Thomas beat out an infield tap and scored when Printup juggled Boylan's grounder. Thomas and Boylan scored on Lodestra's scorching triple to left.

In the fifth Oneonta added two more scores. Wilcox, first to bat, walked and Fitch was safe on Print-up's second error. Strastack's infield out advanced them each a bag. Wilcox scored on Eckstein's single to center garden and Fitch came in when Gaughan juggled the pill for the second time.

The last scoring was done in the sixth. Thomas started the inning with his second hit but was forced at second by Boylan. The scrappy Oneonta catcher pliffed the second success. Lodestra was walked and both advanced a bag when Wilcox was out, second to first, and scored on a passed ball. Fitch tripled but Strastack was out, second to first.

To the great relief of both players and fans, well nigh frozen by the cold wind which swept through the stands and over the field throughout the afternoon, Umpire Griffith called the game in the seventh.

Glants Win Saturday's Game Also.

The weather man was a little more lenient on the last day of the week, but notwithstanding the wind had decided itself in it when the Glants met the Olympians. Johnson, crowd of colored stars from Schenectady, the Glants winning the contest 4 to 2. As in the opening game of the year, the Glants got an early lead, scoring enough scores in the first two rounds to top the pair that the dusky hued Glants could produce for the afternoon's work.

The home club piled up a total of 15 hits, while the opposition was scoring seven off Boylan's left wing, which wing also fanned eight members of Chippie's outfit. Raymond fanned three. Jimmy Boylan, catcher, made the star catch of the afternoon when he fell on his ear in the chinders to capture a foul fly off the bat of Fitch in the ninth frame. The game was also featured by the completion of three double killings by the visitors, which doubtless cut down the scoring of the home crew.

Fitch got four hits out of five times at bat and Roche and Eckstein got through each out of four. Boylan hit safely twice in the three times at bat he was charged with.

Completely outstretched but not ar-played, Oneonta met a defeat, 6 to 3, at Johnstown Sunday at the hands of the Knox Gelatine company team, reinforced for the occasion by a battery from Gloversville. The game was played on a diamond full of holes and covered with stones, and with the outfield a tangle of weeds and long grass. Scanlon pitched a fine game and was accorded excellent support, but the ball had a habit of striking a stone or a hole and bounding at most unexpected angles.

Without wishing to give an alibi for the defeat of Oneonta, the fact remains that the work of the Glants was far more impressive than that of Johnstown. Oneonta's hits were nearly all of them clean drives, while most of Johnstown's safeties were of the most weird variety.

Until the seventh the game was an interesting contest. In that canto

Johnstown's luck came out into the open, the ball started its shimmying and five runs crossed the platter.

SEMINARY BOYS WIN.

Take Clear and Earling Game from Schenectady High School.

Hartwick Seminary, June 1.—For the first time this season, after winning from many of the fastest High school teams of the capital district, the Schenectady High school baseball team was defeated Saturday by the Hartwick Seminary boys by the score of 4 to 2.

Decker, twirling for the students, was effective in the eighth, grounding a ninth-inning rally by the visitors with the bases full. He forced H. Minehold to foul out to the catcher, caught a man attempting to make home on a bunt along the third base line and then struck out Burke for the third out of the inning and the last of the game.

The Seminary runs came in pairs, in the third and sixth rounds. In the third Harrison singled and stole second, scoring on Nelson's double. He, in turn, scored on Burke's double. In the sixth Nelson singled and Decker walked. VonDeben grounded to first, but the Schenectady infield was asleep and missed the chance for a double, getting only VonDeben at first. Crounce then clinched the game with a corking double, scoring Nelson and Decker.

The Seminary boys gave Decker line support. Harrison worked at second like clockwork, accepting eight chances out of nine. Nelson was effective with the stick, making three hits out of four trips to the plate and scoring two of the Seminary runs. He batted well at third, considering the shift made for the game owing to Captain Biele's inability to play. Crounce, besides hitting the double, scoring the winning run, made two fine running catches of difficult drives and caught
